ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP SON.

Joseph P. McCormick Fails to Gain Possession of Child.

Early Sunday afternoon considerable excitement was caused when Joseph P. McCormick of New York, teacher of mathematics in the Morris High school, attempted to gain forcible possession of his two-year-old son. The child is in the custody of its mother living at the home of her father, James Hincks, on Seminary street. As a preliminary to the proceedings, Mr. McCormick drove in an automobile within a few rods of the house, accompanied by Harry O. Clark, his wife, and six-year-old son of Tarrytown, N. Y., where Mr. Clark is manual training teacher in the Washington Irving High school.

Mr. McCormick was permitted to see his son in the presence of Officer George Moore and two aunts of the child. After the child had been induced into a hallway a second time, and a second time brought back to the room by one of the aunts, the officer ordered the door closed. Immediately Mr. McCormick seized the child, opened the door, and without waiting to open the screen door which was fastened, tore it open and made a dash for the car. Before he could reach the car, however, he was overpowered by the officer, who with the assistance of others, brought to the scene by the cries of the child and the terrifying screams of the mother, was able to loosen the grasp while the mother seized the child and ran to the house.

Failure on the part of Mr. McCormick to gain possession of the child, he, with Mr. and Mrs. Clark, accompanied by Officer Moore, was taken to the residence of Attorney LaFleur on Pleasant street. Mrs. McCormick did not accompany them to the residence of Mr. LaFleur, as stated.

December, 1914, Mrs. McCormick filed a petition for separate maintenance and the custody of the child on the grounds of intolerable severity and non-support. December 29, of the same year, at a preliminary hearing the mother was given the custody of the child and two dollars a week toward his support, which continued until December, 1915, when the case was dismissed by the county court. This is the only support Mr. McCormick has given the mother or child since July 30, 1914.

D. A. R. MEETING.

At a recent special meeting of Mary Baker Allen Chapter, D. A. R., it was decided to take up the work outlined by the Red Cross society and material being secured each lady was requested to bring her thimble, needle, and scissors to the meeting on July 22. Twenty-four members and eight guests were in attendance and much interest was manifested in the work, for which one afternoon each week was appointed, and the invitation was extended to all ladies interested. Mrs. Parline, a non-resident New York member, who was present, told of the work in Westchester County and Miss Trask, a Wellesley student, told what they did at Wellesley.

Miss Sanford described the "comfort bag," and Mrs. A. J. Field the small pillows so much used in hospitals. At the close of a brief business meeting Mrs. Lane read a very interesting letter dated "Cavalry Corps Hospital, City Point, Va., September 11, 1864," written by George S. Gale, Surgeon in the 1st Vermont Cavalry. The letter was an inspiration to patriotism and while the writer evidently preferred peace to war, he would face war rather than sacrifice the honor of the Nation and the principles for which our ancestors fought and died. A fine paper on Colonial life in Virginia was written and read by Mrs. K. H. Taylor. A dainty luncheon was served by the committee in charge and the meeting adjourned.

RESPONSE TO CHAPLAIN THOMAS' APPEAL.

The following notice was read from the pulpit of four of the village churches Sunday:

A movement is on foot to raise money to defray the expenses of Henry H. Chapman to Eagle Pass, Texas, to do Y. M. C. A. work for the Vermont soldiers, and to forward any remaining balance to Chaplain John M. Thomas—to be used by him in any way he may see fit.

Any one who wishes to assist in this work may hand their contribution to A. W. Dickens. All subscriptions will be acknowledged in the Middlebury Register. The subscription to date is as follows:

Col. S. A. Hsley, $10.00.

FIELD-BILLINGS.

MR. ADAMS LECTURES.

On Thursday Mr. David E. Adams of Dartmouth College gave two lectures, illustrated with lantern slides, on physical education; one before the regular class in physical education at ten o'clock on "Winter Sports for Vermont Schools" and the other in the evening on "The Dartmouth Outing Club." The subject of winter sports is one of great interest to Vermont Colleges as well as secondary schools, and the lecturer's views added to the instructiveness of his remarks. Both lectures were highly appreciated.

Much interest has been shown in the work offered by Professor Holmes in physical education. It is extremely practical, embodying explicit directions for many plays and games, exercises which can be given in the school in bad weather, and out-of-door-work. The demonstration class of children is taken to the gymnasium for illustrative work, and is much interested in the games.

MIDDLEBURY MAN IN ACCIDENT.

Word has been received in town that Raymond Hebert of this town was seriously hurt in an auto accident at Schenectady, N. Y. A dispatch from that city gives the following account of the accident:

Raymond Hebert of Middlebury is one of three men in a hospital here as the result of an automobile accident early Monday morning. He fractured a collarbone and there is also believed to be a fracture at the base of the skull.

Hebert, and two companions, who were thrown from a car which struck a bridge abutment while traveling at the rate of 50 miles an hour, have not yet recovered consciousness. One of the men is fatally hurt.

Later reports from Ellis hospital are that there is a slight improvement in the condition of Mr. Hebert.

MULES FOR STANDARD OIL CO.

A car load of mules for the Standard Oil company arrived in Rutland Thursday morning. The animals were shipped from St. Louis, Mo., and are to take the place of horses used by the company in Brandon, Bellows Falls, Brattleboro, and Middlebury. There were 28 animals in the shipment and all fine specimens.
